The Dance Magazine

By: Fred

In number 55 of this magazine I have written an article about dance on stamps. Because I found much more special and beautiful stamps, I have decided to put another article about dance stamps in this magazine.

First day stamps are hard to get. Mostly they put these stamps on a special envelope. For the stamp below, they have used a beautiful special postcard.

Here is the text that is on the back of the postcard.

Berlin (West)

12. April 1983

Für den Sport

Tanzen. Die Marke zeigt einen lateinamerikanischen Tanz in einer Rasterumsetzung von Prof. Rothacker. Als Vorlagen dienten ihm zwei Fotos von Foto Czech, Stuttgart. Das Bild auf der Karte war die Vorlage für den Tänzer.

Auflage: 16000

My German is not very good, but this postcard was the example for making the stamp. You can see this very clearly.

The Dance Magazine

With some luck you can buy complete stamp sheets. Below you can see two stamp sheets showing the Argentine Tango. If you have the complete stamp sheet, you can often see more of the picture.

Argentine 2000

On this stamp you can see the Dutch-German Tango couple Ricardo en Nicole. Read magazine 32 for more information about them.

Japan 2001

If you have this complete stamp sheet, you can see much more of the dancers.

Danmark 1979

If you are looking for dance stamps and they do not have the topic dance, ask for the topic music.

The Dance Magazine

Argentine 2001

This what I call complete. On this stamps sheet you can see four different dances. It a pity that only the bottom of the dancers are shown, but that is also special.

New Sealand 1994

I have even found a Rock 'n' roll stamp.

The Netherlands 1964

On this stamp you can see ballet. On one of the Dutch stamps of the year 2003 there is shown a pear of ballet shoes.

Great Britain 1999

It's a pity that you can only see a part of the dancers.

The Dance Magazine

Canada 1997

Highland dancing finds its origin in Scotland, but is also popular in Canada. When I was searching on the internet for the year of this stamp, I found the first day envelope which is very beautiful. Unfortunately, I don't have it yet. On the old photo you can see that this dance was danced by men, but nowadays this dance is performed by young girls (see left on the envelope and right on the stamp). Highland dancing is a part of the Highland Games.

The Netherlands 2003

This is a stamp from the Christmas series of 2003. If the green area becomes warm the text "Hé, durf te dansen" appears which means something like "Hé, dare to dance". The stamps of this series are designed by Ron van Roon and the texts are written by Ronald Giphart.

Of course I have much more stamps than I put in the dance magazine. Take a look at all my dance stamps.

Bolero cd's – deel 1

By: Fred

If you're looking for sheap CDs containing nice Rumba music, you have to look at the Latin CDs in a record shop. Don't buy CDs named "Rumba only" for example. Yes, this is Rumba music, but it is not suitable for the Rumba that we want to dance. We are dancing the Rumba which we learn at the ballroom dancing lessons mostly to Bolero music. I have found a lot of nice Bolero CDs. I try to put a few of them in this magazine once in two months.

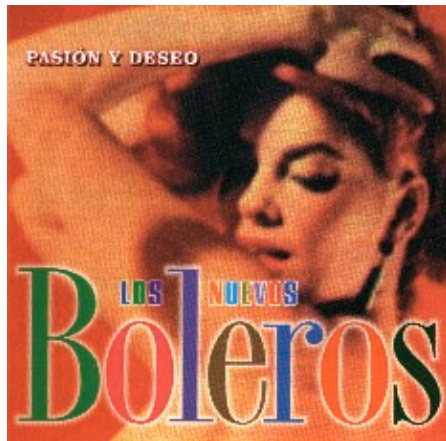

Bolero only

As I just told, don't buy a CD called "Rumba only". "Bolero only" is the CD that you want.

James Jelasic & His Dance Band

I would like to introduce you to my group - James Jelasic & His Dance Band. We perform in the Melrose Room at the Park Hyatt Washington DC at 24th and M Streets, NW every Friday and Saturday evening year-round from 7 - 11pm. We are currently in our twelfth year there specializing in Ballroom Society Dance music of the 1930's, 40's and 50's. Over the years, we have acquired quite a large international following. With myself, a Fulbright Scholar in classical music, at the grand piano, the group also includes a sax/clarinet, acoustic bass and percussion. On Fridays, we perform mostly Latin rhythm selections - rumba, tango, bossa nova, cha-cha, beguine and light sambas. No salsa (just in case some people ask). On Saturdays, we include the Latin rhythms, but add swing, waltzes and fox trots. The dining room is formal, upper end and recommended by The Washington Post's main food critic, Tom Sietsema, as one of his favorite establishments for combining fine food and fine dancing. He has written about my dance band twice in the past few years. Reservations are a must for Saturday evenings as they often sell out. The Melrose Bar is adjacent to the dance floor and guests drink or have lite-fare and dance with no cover charge. Recommended attire is coat and tie.
