Swing Kids

By: Fred

I have bought the dvd of the 109 minutes during movie Swing Kids for 13 euro at the Music Store in Rotterdam. You can see some nice Swing dancing. Swing looks a lot like Jive and Rock 'n' Roll. It includes some acrobatics.

Swing Kids

In a world on the brink of war. You either march to one tune or dance to another.

It is 1939. Nazi Germany has declared war to the world and wants the German youth to follow her. But a group which call themselves 'Swing Kids' fight it with their swinging music from America, and dares to resist against the powerful authorities. Robert Sean Leonard (Dead Poets Society) and Christian Bale (Empire Of The Sun) play the role of two friends whom must choose between their own freedom or the allegiance to the cruel third realm very persuading. Also film favourite Barbara Hershey (Beaches) takes part in SWING KIDS. It is a splendid, inspiring and strong tale concerning the courage for fighting where you believe in!

Unfortunately there is a lot of violence in the film, but of course you can expect that. The story is well written. Swing dances were forbidden and the swing kids had a secret dancing club. I found it funny to see that when the Germans walked in, they switched over to German folk dance. The film is based on the truth.

I have bought this DVD at the Mediamarkt in Utrecht. The DVD contains 19 performances by famous dance couples such as Christopher Hawkins en Hazel Newberry. The show is presented by Gary en Diana McDonald who also give some demonstrations. The music is played by the 101 Strings Orchestra. Before every performance they tell something about the dance. You can see International Style dances as well as American Style dances. The DVD also contains the history of several dances.
