Flamenco, Carmen and Tango

By: Fred

Some time ago I have bought a 3DVD-Box with the movies Flamenco, Carmen and tango of Carlos Saura at Fame Music in Amsterdam. The movies are also available separately, but a DVD-Box is more advantageous.

3 Latin American Musical Masterworks

Carlos Saura

Dances: Flamenco and Argentine Tango

Movies:

Flamenco (110 minutes)

Carmen (97 minutes)

Tango (98 minutes)

The movies are not suitable for children who are younger than 12 years because of violent scenes etc.

Price: 23 euro

Flamenco (1995)

This is not really a movie. There is no story. You will only see a lot of dance and music performances. There is English subtitling for the translation of the songs. I like the Flamenco dancing in the movie Carmen more.

Carmen (1983)

If you like Flamenco dancing, you must definitely see this movie. You can see Flamenco dancing almost continuously. Therefore you must not expect much of the story which is about practising for the Carmen opera. They are searching for a Flamenco dancer and Carmen (Laura del Sol) seems to be the most suitable person. Perhaps because of her name ☺ The jealous choreographer Antonio (Antonio Gades) falls in love with her, but she appears to be married with someone who sits in prison, because of drug trafficking. During the movie it becomes more and more harder to see if it is practising or reality. Unfortunately the movie has no happy end. As far as I can judge, the dancing is very good. There is both Dutch subtitling as well as English subtitling.

The Dance Magazine

Tango (1998)

This movie is almost the same as Carmen, but it is about the Tango instead of the Flamenco. I find this "story" more confusing. They are practising again and this time the director falls in love with the dancer. Unfortunately, love ends with violence. You can see a lot of Argentine Tango dancing with several different styles. There is English subtitling.

Don't expect much of the story of these movies, but you can see a lot of good dancing.

In many previous magazines you could have seen that you can draw nice dancers with the characters that are on your keyboard. I have made some more drawings. Draw your own dancers and send them to fghb@xs4all.nl

Dancing with your computer

By Fred

You can now download the new version (1.31) of my free dance software DcWin.

<http://www.xs4all.nl/~fghb/07.htm>

In the article I will explain the new features.

New Grapevine command

With the new GRAPEVINE command you can easily and fast insert a complete Grapevine figure. The Grapevine figure, also called Vine is often used in Country dances, but also in other forms of dance. The figure consists of three steps with the same beat values and is usually danced as Side - Cross behind – Side. Go to the step after which you want to have the Grapevine and Choose Grapevine from the Tools menu. Mostly DcWin knows which foot is next, but you can choose it at “Man starts with” and “Lady starts with”. After the Grapevine often a Touch or a Kick is danced. You can choose this at ”Count 4”. Choose “Only 3 counts” if you want only a standard Grapevine. At Modify you can set which couple has to dance a Grapevine and if for example only the man has to dance it. Choose “Add new steps after current step” if you don’t want to overwrite the steps after the current step or when you want a Grapevine after the last step. Click on the OK button to execute the Grapevine command or click on the Cancel button to cancel the command.

Export step descriptions to XML

With the EXPORTTEXT command it is now possible to export the step descriptions to the XML format. Choose Export Text from the File menu. At “Export as” choose XML. You can view XML files with Internet Explorer.
